

CUBIC CORPORATION

Cubic Corporation, San Diego, is seeking experienced law enforcement professionals to train U.S. Marine Battalions in “Cop on the Beat” type courses. After a three to four month initial training phase in the United States, applicants would deploy with a United States Marine Corps Battalion for seven months.

While serving with the Battalion overseas, applicants are expected to patrol with Marine Corps units and serve as an advisor to the Battalion Staff. Pay is between 98,000 and 118,000 per year, depending on qualifications. There is also a 70% bonus on top of the base pay when serving outside of the United States and being stationed in a hazardous area.

Interested applicants should send their questions and resumes to LEP@cubic.com. The deployment is a hazardous duty assignment requiring law enforcement personnel to accompany tactical level forces on operations. Employees will be processed for a Secret Security Clearance. Battalions are home based at Camp Pendleton California, Camp Lejeune North Carolina, and Kaneohe Hawaii. This will be a demanding, yet rewarding opportunity for the right individuals.
